Portrait:

With the takeover of Eurohypo the Commerzbank Group became Germany's second-largest bank and one of the leading banks in Europe. It sees itself as an efficient provider of financial services for private customers and for small to medium-sized companies (Mittelstand), but it also serves numerous major corporates and multinationals worldwide. Its aim is to be the best bank for each of its core target groups.

Commerzbank believes it is the major bank with the strongest unreserved commitment to its home market, Germany, where it maintains a nationwide network of some 800 branches. In corporate business, Western, Central and Eastern Europe are also core markets. In the US and in Asia, the Bank is active in the leading business centres. All told, it is represented with outlets of its own in more than 40 countries.
